Welcome to Tokyo City Keiba

It is amazing to watch horses romping in the heart of the Tokyo Metropolis. The only horse racing track in an urban center; it's what we call Tokyo City Keiba.

Oi Racetrack, popularly known as Tokyo City Keiba, pioneered the start of night racing, named "Twinkle Race," the very first attempt on the Japanese horse racing scene.

Observe the horses condition and mood in the paddock and Handicapping!

The paddock is the place where the thoroughbreds for the next race are going to show their walk and condition to the spectators. This allows guests to check the horse's charm from up close and observe the horses' mood and stability, which may help select a horse that may win the upcoming race.

Manners in the paddock

- Flash photography is not allowed at anytime around the paddock and racetrack, especially near the horses.
- Please do not speak loudly.
- Smoking is prohibited around the paddock.

Advanced Tips

Check out these five points!

- Legs: Are the hinds and the thigh muscles firm?
- Pace: Are the hind legs moving briskly?
- Back: Is the horseback shaped up?
- Chest: Is the chest muscular?
- Neck: Is the neck positioned too low?

Tips for horse race watching

Before each race, horses may be excited, nervous, or sometimes restless. You may assess their status based on their calmness.

Watching the races and cheer for your favorite horse.

Let's cheer on your favorite horse from our magnificent grandstands, L-WING and G-FRONT from where guests can enjoy the races from even free seating areas at ground level! A huge "Exciting Vision" screen will show you the jockey tactics during the races and show photo finishes that excite the crowds! Feel and Enjoy "the heat" that horses and jockeys generate during races. All these will make you an avid enthusiast of KEIBA!

L-WING 1F
Roofed seats ensure safe race watching even on rainy days.

G-FRONT 1F
Seats right in front of the wire to enjoy the excitement of the race up-close.

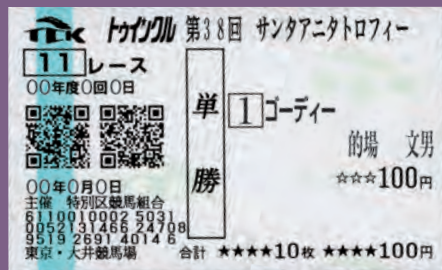

Bet Slips in English are distributed at the General service counter and the Beginners' counter.
